AMID LIGHTS AND MUSIC

Masonic Bazaar Formally Opened by Grand Master Cabell Last Evening in Armory Hall—Handsome Decorations.

A blaze of light flashed from hundreds of electric lamps, and the entrancing strains of music discorsured by Pitt's orchestra, the Masonic bazaar was auspiciously opened in Armory Hall on Royal street last evening, when James Alston Cabell, Grand Master of the state of Virginia, "touched the button" and delivered a masterly address upon "George Washington the Man and the Mason."

Grand Master Cabell's remarks were especially addressed to the young men and women, in which he directed their attention particularly to the high character of Washington and his faithful devotion to the duty of the hour as it came to him. He also alluded to a fact not generally known, which is that George Washington was the first Masonic Grand Master elected under American Masonic jurisdiction, but owing to his other duties as commander-in-chief of the American armies he modestly refrained from accepting the high honor which any man might well covet.
Grand Master Cabell wore the original grand master's jewel, which was made by hand, in 1778, and which was first worn by John Blair, who succeeded to the position Washington was elected to. It is a handsome piece of beautifully wrought gold, about three inches in diameter, appropriately engraved. Many examined it with great interest.

The speaker was introduced by J.
J. Green, of this city, Generalissimo of the Grand Lodge of the state. Rev.
Dr. John Lee Allison offered the prayer of invocation.

The decorations in the hall were exceptionally pleasing and with the handsome, attractive costumes worn by the ladies in attendance at the booths, presented a scene of especial beauty. This evening will be "Red Men's" night at which time the various lodges of that order are expected to attend. A different program has been arranged for each evening.

The ladies in charge of the various booths are:

Alexandria - Washington Lodge Miss Cochran and Miss Waller—The Kitchen.

Andrew Jackson Lodge, Miss Luckett and Mrs. C. E. Dare—Fancy articles.

Old Dominion Commandery, Mrs.
C. W. Fletcher, and Mrs. Mc-Menamin—The New Edison Edison Phonograph.

Mystic Shrine, Mrs. E. H. Kemper—Smoking Room.

Order Eastern Star, Mrs. F. W.
Latham—Refreshments.

Mt. Vernon R. A. Chapter, Mrs.
R. A. Zachary and Mrs. George W.
Zachary—Groceries.

Dodge Brothers Automobile, Mrs.
George H. Schwarzmatt.

Flowers, Mrs. J. E. W. Timberman and Miss Callahan.

The ladies have arranged to serve supper at six o'clock every night to all desiring, consisting of chicken salad or fried oysters, Virginia ham, pickles, rolls and coffee.

Dancing will be another attraction each evening after ten o'clock.

Among recent donations received are: furniture and pictures from Lans-burg Co.; barrel Lynnhaven oysters, Rush Lodge No. 89, Norfolk; pointed fox fur collar, Saks of Washington; fan, F. Jelleff; pictures, Hub Furniture Co.

The fact that the object for which the bazaar has been arranged is a most worthy one should elicit the heartiest aid of all. While the cost of the Memorial to the Father of Our Country will be defrayed by Masons from all over the land, it will be located in Alexandria, hence it is of special interest to our citizens for that reason alone.

FIREMEN'S LOVING CUP

First Lieutenant Glasgow Carries Tribute of Alexandrians to Fire Chief W. A. Braithwaite, of Harrisonburg.

As has been stated in the Gazette, the Alexandria firemen who attended the annual State Convention in Harrisonburg last August greatly appreciated the entertainment tendered them by the firemen of the valley, and they upon their return home, obtained through H. W. Wildt, a beautiful silver-plated loving cup for W. A.
Braithwaite, Chief of the Harrisonburg Fire Department, to be presented to him, as a testimonial for the royal manner in which the Alexan-drians had been entertained. On Saturday last, First Lieutenant W.
M. Glasgow, of the Reliance Steam Fire Engine Company, was deputed by the firemen of this city to convey the cup to the Harrisonburg chief.
Mr. Glasgow carried with him the following letter:

Alexandria, Va.

Oct. 7, 1916.

W. A. Braithwaite, Esq., Chief Harrisonburg Fire Department, Harrisonburg, Va.

Dear Chief—
The members of the Alexandria Fire Department who were privileged to attend the State Firemen's Convention held in Harrisonburg, August 23-25, desire to present you this loving cup, as a slight token of their appreciation of the many courtesies extended to them by you and the Firemen of your City and the Citizens in general, during their brief sojourn in your midst.

With kind regards for yourself and the other Firemen of Harrisonburg, We are,

Very truly yours,

Alexandria Firemen,

By J. H. Trimyer.

The presentation was made in the presence of firemen and others in Harrisonburg, and after Chief Braithwaite had read the letter and listened to the remarks of Mr. Glasgow, he said:

Representative Mr. W. M. Glasgow of the Firemen of the City of Alexandria,

Brother Firemen:

As all firemen know, it is work and not words that count. As I have been more accustomed to work than to words, therefore, on such an occasion as this that calls for words, expressing the feelings of the heart, instead of work, I know that I am poorly prepared to do my part in return for your generosity, which I truly appreciate.

The beautiful Loving Cup could never have been brought forth by mere words. It is the completed product of the skilled workman.

As we know that silver by labor may be taken from the hidden places in the hills, and made into shapes of beauty and worth, such as your beautiful gift, and thus become a silent, silver tongue to show the feelings that are in the hearts of those who give it; I wish that, on this occasion I could, by the use of language, give expression to thoughts that would show you the hidden feelings of gratitude I have in my heart for your kindness.

But as this is not within my power, I am sure you will excuse me from attempting to make a speech such as your kindness requires; and that you will understand me fully when I say to you, that, from the bottom of my heart, I thank you.

I am glad, too, to know that the "Boys" of the Alexandria Fire Departments enjoyed their stay here while attending the last Annual Meeting of the State Firemen's Association, and I take pleasure in saying to you, and each of you, that the pleasure you then enjoyed was not equal to that you gave the "Boys" of Harrisonburg on that occasion.

In conclusion, I wish to assure you that I shall always preserve and treasure, with tenderest memories, this handsome gift, not only for its beauty and value, but for associations and sentiments connected with it.

THE RAMBLER

Reflections Called From Little Peeps Into The Lives of "Just Folks."

Rain coaxes sweetness from out Old Mother Earth and her children—the trees and flowers. Have you never sensed this after a rainfall? We should be greatly thankful to the people in the cities who go to the trouble and expense of maintaining gardens.

Even those who have those miniature gardens, the window boxes, deserve their meed of praise. Each such an one is doing his or her share to "brighten the corner" where they are.

I sensed the kind of sweetness we are considering when I stepped out of the house last night. And to make it the more perfect there was an almost full moon in an azure blue sky curtained by the filmiest and fleeciest of snow white clouds. Just to stand inhaling the cool, pure air, and watching the great expanse of clouds drifting slowly, and with infinite majesty, southward, was to assimilate an in-tangible something that made a fellow feel—well, more worth-while. I wonder why we don't stop more often to dip into the inspiration Old Mother Nature can give us?

Everyday there are things—sunsets and sunrises, vast open views of the great out-of-doors which we may have for the expenditure of but a little exercise in walking.

Presently I went on my way and presently again I met a man, and a woman who was crying. And the man was upbraiding her for so doing. Why is it, I wonder, that some men seem to lose all sense of control at sight of a woman's tears? Is it that they have a guilty conscience?
And they do not seem to understand that women cry for so many different causes and that they have so many more causes than men to cry about.

And the tears of good women sweeten the life of the world. The sweet-shed in pity, in sympathy, in love, in agony, have made philanthropy and benevolence and brotherhood spring into growth in rocky and barren fields.
The tears of the Florence Kelly's the Clara Barton's, the hundreds and thousands of their sisters, have washed indifference and greed from the hearts of the careless and the unrighteous and have helped to make this world the good place to live in that it is today. Let us be infinitely grateful for the rain of the Almighty and the tears of women.

ever, confined to her room and will be for some little time to come.

The Daily Progress, published at Charlottesville, had the following to say in its edition of yesterday concerning the opening of the evangelistic campaign there on Sunday evening: "Before an audience which taxed the capacity of the spacious Tabernacle, which had been erected for the meetings to be held here during the next four weeks, the long-expected evangelist, Gypsy Smith, Jr., delivered his initial sermon last night. To say that the eager throng was all expectant, would be stating it mildly, as the large auditorium was filled long before the hour of 7:45 and when the noted preacher finally took his place on the stand, there was only standing room left, and many hundreds were obliged to depart or to listen outside."

Anne Lee Memorial Home held their regular monthly meeting in the Home this morning when the reports of the various sub-committees were rendered.

NEW TILING IN CHRIST CHURCH

Ceremony of Dedication Simple but Yet Very Impressive.

Under the tile in the doorway, of the vestry room of Christ Episcopal Church, lies a copper box, which, some day—mayhap many hundreds of years hence—will be taken up again by the hands of reverent people and stored among other relics of a long dead past.

The box was placed in its position yesterday afternoon with simple ceremonies designed to mark the completion of the new tiling of the aisles of the church has been done under the auspices of the Parish Aid society.

Its contents include a "Book of Remembrances," containing the names of the vestrymen; all the Rectors of the church; all the Bishops of Virginia; a copy of the "Southern Churchman"; a copy of the Alexandria Gazette holding the address of the Rev. Dr. William J. Morton, delivered about two years ago to an assemblage of the Colonial Dames of Virginia, held in the church.

In the box also was a list of names of three-hundred and forty-six men and women, who came from thirty-two of the United States and from England and France, and who contributed to the tiling fund. Also the collection contained photographs of the church and a number of current coins.

Among those present were Mrs.
George Uhler, and Mrs. Thomas W.
Robinson, representing the Parish Aid Society; Mr. Clyde C. Lamond, and Mr. George B. French, representing the Vestry; Mr. A. Clarence Howard, representing the congregation, and the Rector, Dr. Morton.

Dr. Morton spoke briefly in eulogy of the activity and enterprise of the members of the Parish Aid Society.
Mrs. Robinson spoke for the Society, of which she is president and Mrs.
Dabney H. Herndon is secretary.

The tiling is greyish white in color and although new, yet seems antique, and fits admirably into the color scheme of the church.

VISIT OF FORMER RESIDENT.

Frank Grimes Left Alexandria Fifty Years Ago, Since Which Time He Has Lived in Chicago.

A Septuagenarian, unknown to the greater number of the present generation of Alexandrians, was walking the streets of his native city today.
It has been half a century since he left his home for Chicago, which has since been his abiding place. The former resident walked through the principal streets, like Rip Van Winkle unable to recognize an acquaintance, until he encountered Samuel H. Lunt, one of his contemporaries, whom he instantly recognized. While conversing with Mr. Lunt the writer passed and he was hailed, and for a short time the trio talked of old Alexandria and people who have waxed and waned during the past fifty years.
Frank Grimes was the visitor. He has for years been a prominent lawyer of Chicago.

Mr. Grimes is a son of the late Charles Grimes, whom a few Alexan-drians will remember as a deputy sheriff in this city in war and postwar days. While a boy he entered the clerk's office of the court when the late Jefferson Tacey was clerk.
James R. Caton, one of Alexandria's prominent barristers, also mounted the first rung of the legal ladder in Jefferson Tacey's office.

Mr. Grimes hadn't long to tarry in his old home, and left this afternoon for Chicago.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—While hurterday, Catherine Grubb, 9 years old, and her brother, William, 6 years old, were killed by a ponderous motortruck at 47th street and Wyalusing behind a trolley car directly into the path of an automobile. The child was picked up unconscious and sent to the West Philadelphia Homeopathic Hospital suffering from internal injuries, a compound fracture of the right leg, concussion of the brain and laceration of the head. Her condition is serious.

WOULD HURRY THE CASE CHECK-FLASHER IN CITY

Judge Barley Notifies Harry Fleischmann's Lawyer That He Must Pay Fine and Costs of Appeal Without Further Delay.

In the Corporation Court yesterday Judge Barley directed N. S.
Greenaway, Clerk, to notify Edmund Burke, counsel for Harry Fleischmann, who took an appeal from the Police Court last June, when he was fined $50 for opening his saloon on election day, that unless the fine and costs of the appeal were paid immediately, a day would be set for the trial of the case. Samuel G.
Brent, Commonwealth's Attorney, had announced his readiness to go on with the case several months ago, but the defense not being ready, the appeal was continued. Mr. Brent announced his readiness yesterday to go into the case, but Mr. Burke was not present, and the order of Judge Barley followed.

On election day, June 13, Sergeant Wilkinson with a squad of policemen, paid a visit to the saloon conducted by Harry Fleischmann, on the east side of Royal street, near King where thirty-two persons, about half of whom were females, had gathered. The inmates were cited to appear in the Police Court next morning as witnesses, and the proprietor was directed to appear and answer the charge of conducting business on election day and for furnishing females with liquor, both forbidden under heavy fines by the Byrd liquor law.

When the case was called, upon request, it was continued until the following Wednesday June 21, Fleischmann had in the meantime employed Edmund Burke, as his counsel, and upon the day before the time set for the trial the defense asked that the case be continued at least two weeks. Justice Thompson, who was presiding over the Police Court at the time, declined to continue the case, and called attention to the fact that the defense had had a week to prepare for the trial, and as all the witnesses had been summoned for the 21st, the case would be called on that day.

Fleischmann was arraigned on two charges—opening his saloon on election day and furnishing females with intoxicants. He, however, was tried upon one—the first charge.

The bartender at Fleischmann's place of business, acknowledged that the place had been open on election night and that females had been served with liquor. A fine of $50 was accordingly imposed upon Fleischmann, from which action Mr. Burke, attorney, took an appeal to the Corporation Court, and later F. M. Hill became Fleischmann's surety.

Judge Barley fixed the trial of the case of J. J. Hanratty, appealed from the Police Court, in which he was fined $100 by Justice Caton for selling liquor to minors, for October 24.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

The Ministerial Association of the Protestant Churches of Alexandria

Among other matters discussed were plans for the care of those converts of the campaign who have not as yet expressed any preference for any specific church. Cards bearing the names of these men and women were distributed among the various pastors present.

Utters Several on Harper's Ferry Bank and Obtains Goods and Money But Finds Few Victims in Alexandria

Chief Goods and Sergeant Wilkinson yesterday afternoon arrested William Carroll, alias William Davis, on suspicion of uttering worthless checks. After having been conduced to the station house a number of checks, check stubs, pass books, order books, of a portrait company, a number of photographs of women (one colored) and babies, $5 and some cents in money, etc., were found in his pockets.

The officers subsequently telegraphed to Harper's Ferry for information concerning the prisoner, and were told he was unknown there.

On one of the stubs it was implied that he had obtained $20 in money and goods from Abe Cohen of this city.

Carroll was brought before the Police Court this morning when the evidence showed that he had uttered checks in several places in this city. He entered George Wells's saloon on Fairfax street, between King and Cameron, and obtained a drink and in payment presented a check on a Harper's Ferry bank. The propie-tor gave him $4.90 change. Carroll later proceeded to the cigar store conducted by Hamilton and Steiner, near the Gazette office, where he ordered a large number of cigars and presented a check for $91. The proprietors refused to allow him to take the cigars or to give him any change until the check could be sent to Harper's Ferry and verified.

Carroll appeared subsequently in Harry Steiner's cigar store, northeast corner of King and Fairfax streets, where he ordered another supply of cigars. He presented in payment a check for $49 and asked that $7 in change be given him. Mr.
Steiner was as wary as Hamilton and Steiner, and declined to give him any change or to allow him to carry away the cigars. He asked Carroll where the cigars should be sent. Carroll replied, "The Rock Hotel," at Harper's Ferry. Mr. Steiner, who is acquainted with Harper's Ferry, told Carroll that no such hotel existed in that place.

Justice Caton committed the prisoner for ten days, and remarked, "He may be wanted somewhere else."
